

Rentex Audio Visual & Computer Rentals Opens New Location in San Francisco, California

The new Rentex location will provide same-day delivery of AV equipment with 24/7 support to businesses throughout Northern California and beyond.

Boston, MA – April 11, 2018

Rentex, one of the largest, most respected providers of AV rentals, is pleased to announce that it's opening a new location in San Francisco, California. Rentex's new location will provide industry-leading AV equipment available to subrent throughout Northern California.

Rentex, one of the nation's leading suppliers of AV rental equipment, is pleased to announce that it's opened a new 19,000 square foot facility in Union City, California. The new Rentex Audio Visual & Computer Rentals San Francisco facility, located at 2915 Whipple Road in Union City, CA will provide AV, production, and computer rental equipment and services to a region that includes the cities of San Francisco, San Jose, Sacramento, as well as the greater Northern California region.

President of Rentex, Richard G. Flaherty III had this to say about the new opening, "Rentex is always pursuing new ways to better serve our customers. Part of that strategy is to open new Rentex warehouses in key locations so we can provide faster, more effective cross-rental services to our clients. The San Francisco location will not only enable us to provide same-day service to new and existing customers in the area, but will also help us provide faster and more efficient support as well. We're really excited to bring our outstanding AV inventory to this vibrant part of the country, and start building stronger relationships with the AV and production community there."

Rentex, a leader in the cross-rental market, provides an extensive inventory of high-quality AV equipment to its partners in the audio-visual production industry. Rentex doesn't compete with its customers by renting directly to businesses, instead it focuses on providing the best possible service to the nation's leading AV rental, staging, production, and live event companies as a strategic partner. The company's outstanding customer service includes 24/7 technical and sales support, and a rigorous quality control process in which each piece of equipment returns to a Rentex warehouse between rentals to ensure it's in optimal condition before being rented again.

As a partner to some of the nation's largest AV rental and production companies, Rentex prides itself on staying at the cutting edge of AV technology and offering the latest and most compelling new equipment to its discerning clientele. Like all Rentex warehouses, the new San Francisco facility contains an extensive inventory of high-quality, AV rental equipment.
